

Jackie Suggitt
Multistakeholder Initiatives Director, ReFED

ReFED is a data and economics-driven organization leading the charge to reduce U.S. food waste at scale. Jackie works with a diverse set of industry leaders to tackle complex food waste issues, including standardized date labeling, food waste prevention packaging, and company-specific food waste reduction analytics. Before joining ReFED, Jackie worked as Senior Manager of Sustainability at Walmart, where she led a number of sustainable food and nutrition programs for Walmart's global and private brand business. This work was foundational in developing and launching Walmart's public 2025 Sustainability strategy.
