

Bob Kenney
Recycling Development Officer, Nova Scotia Government

Bob has worked for the past 18 years for Nova Scotia Environment in the resource management group. Bob's current work is focused on supporting new and existing waste diversion businesses and municipal diversion programs to enhance their efficiency, scale and value added outputs to increase waste diversion and green jobs. Coordinating research and development projects in the private, public and academic sectors for waste materials that are challenging to effectively and efficiently collect and recycle