

Nicole Hagerman Miller – Managing Director, Biomimicry 3.8

Nicole Hagerman Miller is the Managing Director of Biomimicry 3.8, a company internationally recognized as a leader in biomimicry innovation consulting, professional training and thought leadership. Nicole is responsible for strategic direction of Biomimicry 3.8, working closely with clients and partners to identify the best opportunities to effectively integrate and apply biomimicry.

Nicole's professional experience in environmental and social compliance, product development and global supply chain management supports her efforts to introduce biomimicry as a platform to mitigate risk, build resilience and advance innovation. With a formal background in business, Nicole often serves as a speaker focusing on topics demonstrating the business value of biomimicry, along with current projects and initiatives of Biomimicry 3.8.